

CHAPTER 23

Part V. From the Marginal Questions

1. How does prayer serve as a “thermometer,” a measurement of the “temperature” of one’s spiritual life? _____

2. How does true prayer exalt God and humble man? _____

3. How do prayerless people miss a rich means of promoting awareness of, and love for, others? _____

4. How does the address of the Lord’s Prayer, “Our Father which art in heaven,” express the loftiness yet nearness of God? _____

5. Why are our natural hearts enemies of spiritual begging? _____

